

Sophos Extended Detection and Response

Defend against active adversaries with comprehensive EDR and XDR

Stopping attacks quickly is critical. Sophos XDR provides powerful tools and threat intelligence that enable you to detect, investigate, and respond to suspicious activity across your entire IT environment.

Built on the strongest protection

Resource-stretched IT teams have fewer incidents to investigate and resolve when more threats are stopped upfront. Sophos combines extended detection and response with the industry's strongest endpoint protection, blocking threats before they require manual investigation – lightening your workload.

Endpoint Detection and Response built-in (EDR)

Sophos XDR includes comprehensive EDR tools, including powerful, customizable search capabilities with access to 90 days of endpoint and server data and secure remote access to devices. Investigate issues, install/ uninstall software, terminate processes, and more.

Extend visibility beyond your endpoints

The more you see, the faster you can act. Events from both Sophos and non-Sophos products are ingested, filtered, correlated, and prioritized – extending visibility across all key attack surfaces and enabling you to detect and stop active adversaries fast.

Expansive Sophos XDR-ready solutions

Sophos technologies work together seamlessly in the XDR platform to deliver the best possible security outcomes. Native solution integrations include Sophos Endpoint, Sophos Workload Protection, Sophos Mobile, Sophos Firewall, Sophos NDR, Sophos ZTNA, Sophos Email, and Sophos Cloud.

Compatible with your existing tools and technologies

Leverage telemetry from a wide range of non-Sophos security tools and get more ROI from your existing technology investments while speeding up security operations. Integrations include identity, network, firewall, email, cloud, productivity, and endpoint security technologies.
